

G20 Resource Efficiency Dialogue – Third Meeting under IT G20 Presidency

15 November 2021

Agenda

Consistently with the G20 Environment Ministerial Communiqué adopted in Naples in July 2021, the G20 has continued and enhanced its work on the update of the Roadmap adopted in Tokyo in 2019. A new version was delivered in November 2021 for the implementation of a three-year Roadmap (2021-2023).

To further strengthen the decisions taken, the G20 Rome Leader's Declaration reiterates "the commitment to increase resource efficiency also through the G20 Resource Efficiency Dialogue activities".

At international level, Resource Efficiency is being discussed within several international processes, coalition and multilateral environmental agreements in multiple ways and formats. The work performed so far should therefore contribute to these other ongoing discussions at national, regional and international levels, and at the same time be fuelled by them while avoiding overlapping.

In a spirit of efficiency and consistency with other international processes and in light of the new three-year Roadmap, G20 Members should contribute to helping raise common awareness and set shared agendas among national institutions, local and regional authorities, as well as businesses and civil society, putting youth at the core.

Cooperation and partnership will enable attaining best results and will contribute to stepping up activities both at global and G20 level to achieve a more sustainable, resource-efficient and circular economy.

The discussion aims to stimulate our reflections on how to improve coordination across existing processes, coalitions, and platforms on Resource Efficiency at all levels.
